On June 26, 2014, $1219 in cash donations to LaRouche PAC were stolen from the San Francisco offices of LaRouche PAC at 350 Townsend Street. The circumstances of this theft are detailed, as follows.

On June 26, 2014, Barbara Boyd received a call from Andrea Ingraham, a volunteer in San Francisco, California, who regularly assembles the collected LaRouche PAC funds from its San Francisco activities for transit to Leesburg, Virginia for deposit in LaRouche PAC's bank account. Ms. Ingraham was distraught and reported that she had gone to another LaRouche PAC office on the same floor to run a report at approximately 3:30 p.m. without locking the door to her office. Upon her return she discovered that $1219 in cash which she had assembled for transmission to Leesburg, Virginia was missing. She ran outside and around the building to see if she could spot anyone who might be suspicious and asked the other occupants on the floor if they had seen anything, to no avail.

Barbara Boyd instructed Ingraham to call the police if she had not already done so and report the incident. Ms. Ingraham was the sole occupant of the office from which the funds were taken on the day of the incident. Her husband, Bob Ingraham, who works occasionally out of the same office, was not there. Ms. Ingraham could observe the other three LaRouche PAC organizers working on the same floor of the office at the time of the incident from the office where she went to run her report and all of them were present and working in the other offices on the same floor leased by LaRouche PAC at the time of the incident. Barbara Boyd interviewed the other individuals in the office at the time of the theft and they corroborated Ms. Ingraham's account of their whereabouts.

Ms. Ingraham reported the theft to the San Francisco Police Department on June 26, 2014, and the circumstances of the theft are described in San Francisco Police Incident Report 146125079. The report was amended on July 10, 2014 to reflect the correct year of the incident at one place in the narrative of the report. She additionally reported the theft to building management seeking to ascertain any similar incidents. At approximately the same time as the LaRouche PAC theft, another business in the building, Zirx, reported a similar type of theft involving a laptop. Assuming the building to be locked, after hours, the manager of the business, working alone, left the building without locking his office door and a laptop was stolen.
